SENIOR WILL

We, the Class of 1931 of Bradley High School, upon leaving this vale of tears for a higher plane of life, being in sound mind and our usual beneficent disposition, do generously bestow upon thee, our legitimate heirs, our properties, both real and personal, to-wit:

Firstly: Having already conquered the world and brought it under submission, we will to the Juniors our most extraordinarily developed and fertile brains, realizing that they have need of them, and on condition that they make use of them.

Secondly: To the Sophomores we leave their sponsor, recommending for them the best teacher we can, that the sponsor may avoid the usual mistake of over-education.

Thirdly: To the Freshmen we leave our library, realizing that all they possess will be used up in the first year, and that they will wonder deeply upon it, since it is not all to them, but with a library to attain our noble ends.

Fourthly: To the faculty we will our accomplishments of conversing fluently upon subjects about which we know nothing.

Fifthly, and lastly: Upon a number of very worthy individuals, we, the members of the said class of 1931, do generously bestow these gifts, to-wit:

I, Howard H. [unclear], do bequeath to Walter H. [unclear] my gift of coaching the [unclear] football team, and my artistic ability of sinking two points for dear old Bradley.

I, Harold Ott, give to "Pug" Begnoche my honorable art of being the only back-ler of the Senior Class.

I, Earl Stoltz, give to [unclear] my interesting vocabulary, recommending it for constant use.

I, John [unclear], do bequeath to [unclear] my [unclear] period.

I, Paul Toliver, give to [unclear] my [unclear] the "All Star County Team".

I, Gladys Brockman, give to Ruth Nelson my "A" average in Chemistry, hoping she turns out to be a better Chemist than I.

I, Laura Hasemeyer, will to Laretta Hayes my reserved seat in Geometry Class, hoping she uses it to a better advantage than I.

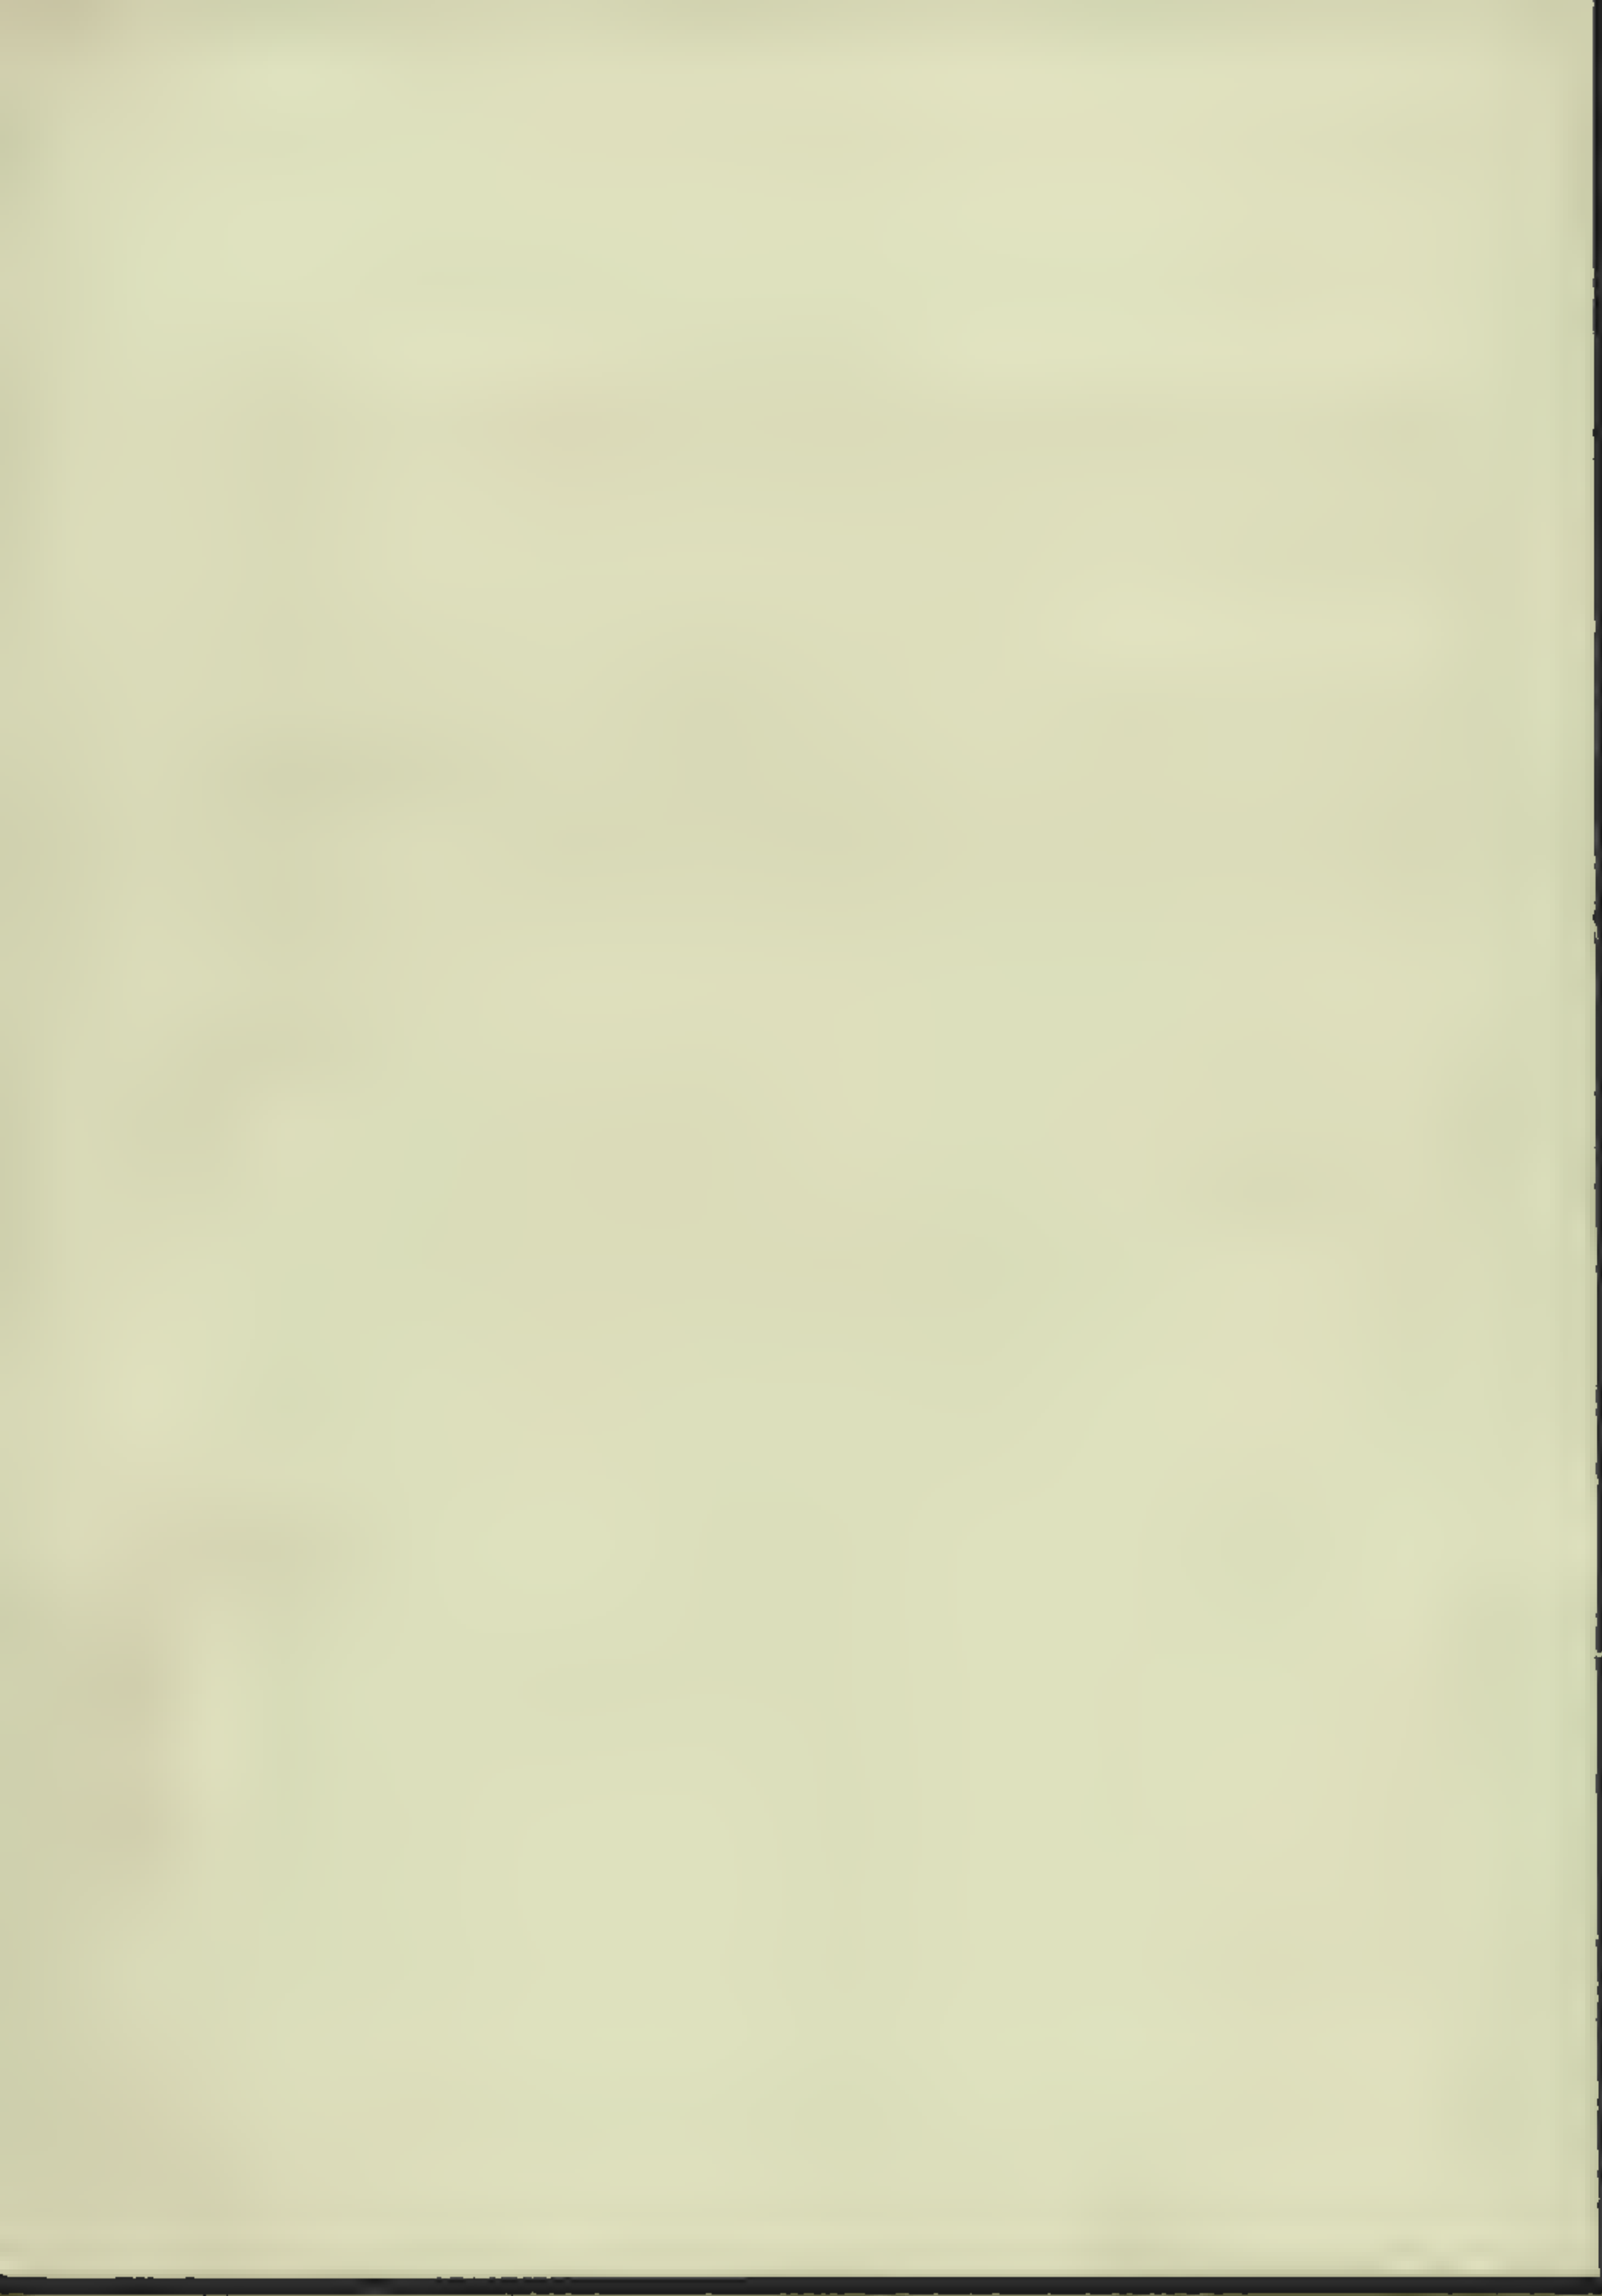

I, Ilene McCleary, will to Ilene Hasemeyer my front seat in the assembly, hoping she isn't always running to the back of the room, to ask information of her boy-friend.

I, Florence Attek, will to Genevieve Raich my determination of reaching one hundred words a minute on the 1903 speed test.

I, Evelyn Lund, leave to Jerry Powers my fast pace on going to and from classes.

CLASS PROPHECY - 1950

Upon my various journeys to and fro I have had the good fortune to meet many of my old Senior class mates. First I met with a little, old weazened man whom I once called Harold Ott now known as Dr. Ott. I developed sea sickness early and of course the ship doctor was called. Here came none other than Dr. Ott swinging along with his little satchel. I was very glad to see him and asked where his grocery truck was.

In India my friend inquired of me if I had visited the famous Madame Shervia. I replied in the negative and so arrangements were made for my visit the following day. Clothed in a long robe with a turban around her head stood before me my dear friend Florence Styck alias Madame Shervia. I understood then why in her last year in High School she had been so anxious to have her hair grow long. She was very much surprised to see me. On departing, I told her that I hoped she was able to see in her crystal ball more for her other visitors than she had been able to see for me. Bluffing is her first profession and I would have gladly expected it from Master John Smietanski but not from Florence.

In Poland I ran upon this famous Smietanski person trying to criticise a well known Polish official. I say trying because really criticising is out of his line even if he doesn't think so. He was about to be thrown into prison when I vouched for his innocence and he went free. Then I inquired of him if he didn't find that he was not a natural born critic and that it was the death of him yet. I put him on a ship for America and the last I saw of him he was a ship for America.

I then took a taxi and whom do you driver? There sat Mr. Paul Toliuszis reciting orations to himself and I was very much surprised to find that he was a very old friend. I was very much surprised to find that he was a very old friend. Oh! how hard the work was. I was very much surprised to find that he was a very old friend. After telling me of their origin and travels abroad for many years, I started to tell them that I was very much surprised to find that he was a very old friend.

It was found that I needed a minor operation and there came a little blond nurse very flighty and winking at me with very much. I was very much surprised to find that she was a very old friend. I was very much surprised to find that she was a very old friend. I was very much surprised to find that she was a very old friend. Miss Lora was very much surprised to find that she was a very old friend.

something and I was afraid that she would do more harm than good but to my surprise she did rather well omitting the fact that she gave me far too much ether, talked continually of the new taxi station and asked me 500 times to excuse the taxi driver as he was probably worried about an address he was to give the following day at the dedication of a dog house.

From the hospital I went to Scotland where I saw a little lady teaching lady bugs to dance. I entered the circus tent and to my astonishment there was Ellen McCleary. Poor, dear lady, had wasted her life at this occupation and to be truthful these lady bugs never did need any more than a flea but she had become so used to seeing them move about that she really thought they were dancing. The admission was 10¢ and was to be paid in pennies as this gave her the impression that she had more money. I only had .09¢ but she refused to admit me until I had the correct change and made me her very dear friend.

In Rome I ran across and was entertained by an old, old classmate, Earl Stoltz. He was toddling a small boy upon his knee named Mussolini. After inquiring I learned that he had married Mussolini's daughter and this youngster was their child. I was invited to dinner and the small child showed me a toy automobile model and after a speedster Whippet and he told me that when he grew up he intended to speed just like his daddy and grandfather had done before him.

As my time was about over I was forced to return to America without seeing every place I wished. When I was in America I went immediately to the court room as I had been traveling and practicing upon the law. I was having considerable trouble in obtaining some one to wish my help. None other than the star of the Cubs, Mr. Howard Hoegs, was there at that time but as I was there I did the best and so I did. He received his divorce and read the book where he and his wife remarried.

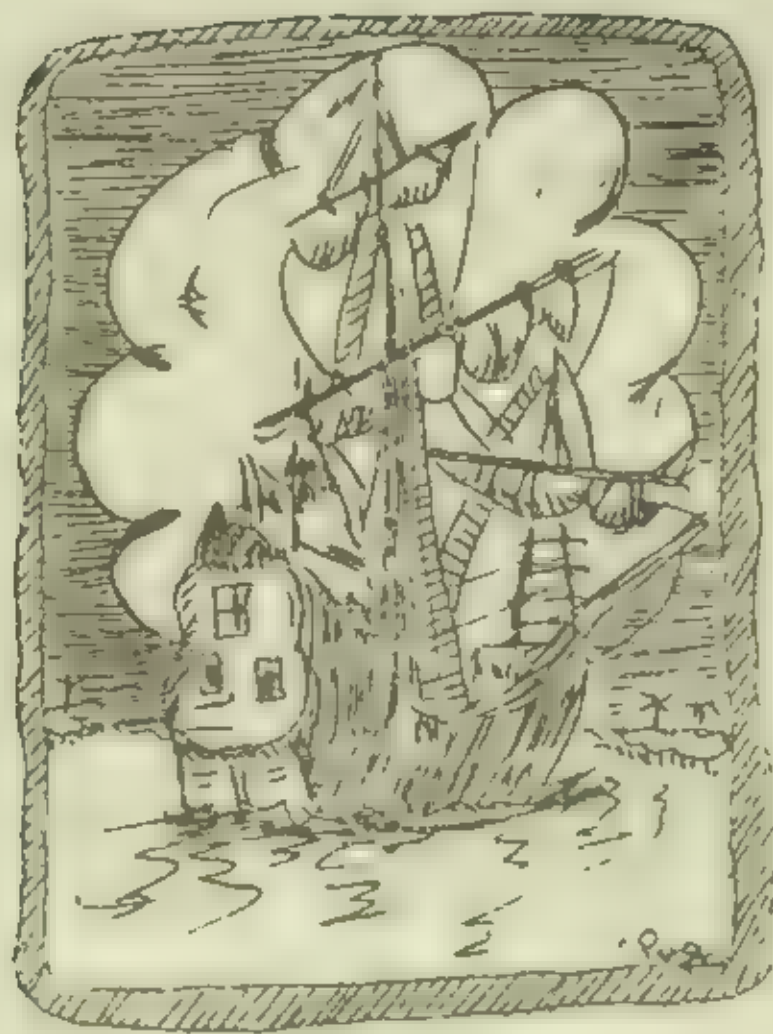

And last of all come the grocery stores. The chain stores of the main office in Chicago. I was there against another firm. I sat not a gentleman but was elegantly dressed and with all the things about I was unable to count the dollars, arms, cars, etc.

And so now as I have seen all of my dear class mates, I feel much better and really feel that I am 20 years younger. I am a lawyer and am doing as well as would be expected.

Gladys Brockman.

Delphis Marcotte	Secretary
Lawrence Hayes	Treasurer

The Junior Class entered high school in 1928 with forty-eight students. Mr. Beauvais acted as our advisor during our Freshman year; Mr. Young was our advisor during our Sophomore year; and during this year Mr. Young was our advisor.

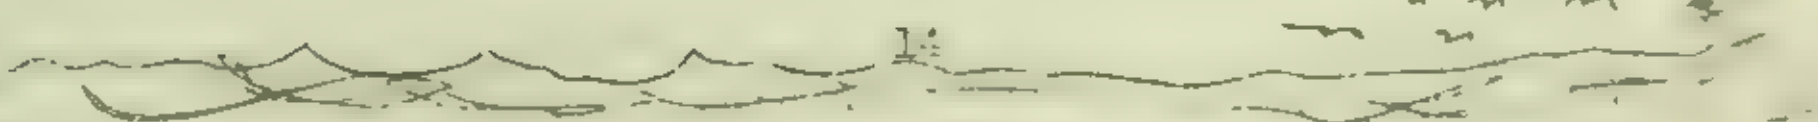

It would be rather difficult to pick out the most prominent members of the class, as they all seem prominent.

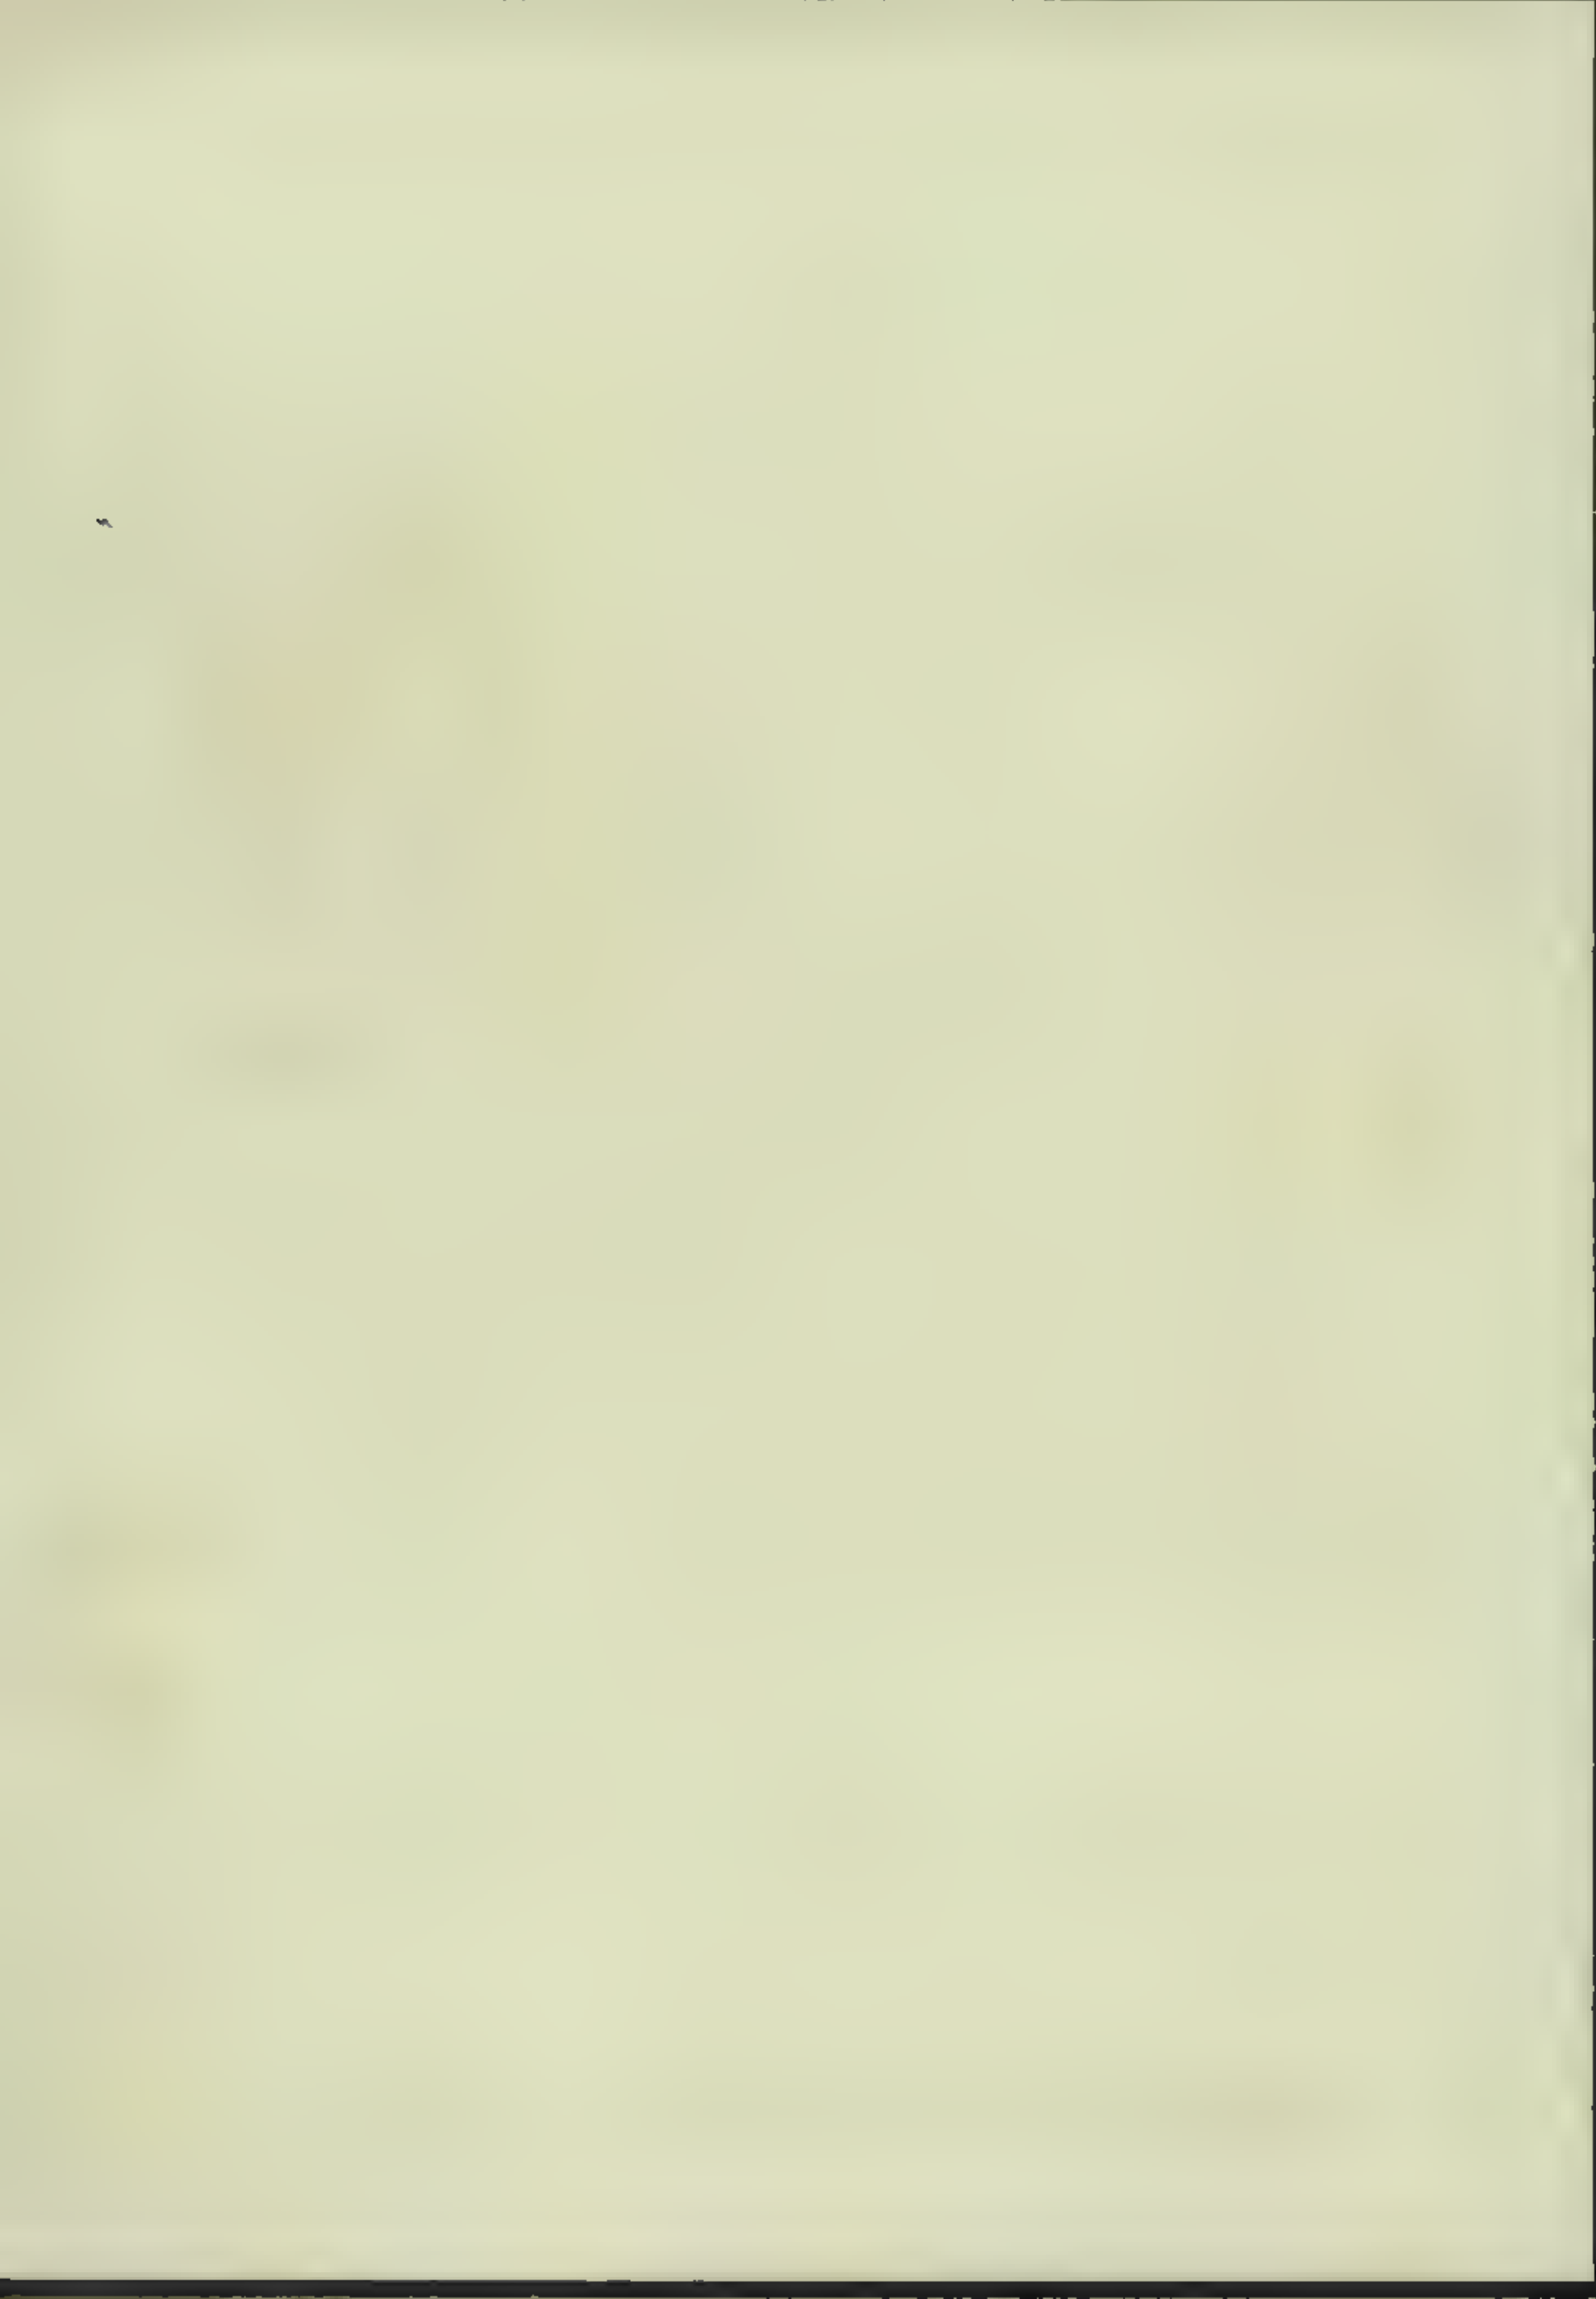

The boys in the class who received major letters in basketball are Floyd Anderson, Lawrence Benoché, and Bill Lammert, and Lawrence Power. Delphis Marcotte received a minor letter. In dramatics letters were awarded to Vivian Lund, Vivian Leoris, Elinor Korman, Lawrence Hayes, and Eugene Nickell.

Various members of the Junior Class are active in the Glee Club, Commercial Club, and French Club.

The Junior Class won the interscholastic tournament in basketball this year.

The Junior-Senior Banquet this year is to be held at the Hotel Kankakee on Saturday Evening, May 23. Money for this banquet was raised by selling candy at the homecoming, selling Christmas cards, giving two basketball games, and monthly class dues.

Freshmen class meetings are held every Thursday Morning. The officers elected for the year 1930-1931 are: President-Vearle Heinis, Vice-President-Wilbur Danler, Secretary-Ruby Hahn, and Treasurer-Harold Chartier. The class dues are ten cents a month.

The Freshmen have taken part in all the activities and several have shown their efficiency already. Edward Zajc, Jerome Powers, Harold Chartier, Leo Mathews and Lionel Legris received minor B's in basketball, and certain of our class members have a good chance for the F's awarded for scholarship. Let's hope they get it!

During the second month of school the Sophomores initiated us. We had a good time, although we did receive several shocks from wires connected with a battery. We felt much better, however, after we had some of the good lunch the Sophomores provided.

In order to show the Bradley High School we were an active part of the school, we gave a Halloween party. Almost everyone came masked, and these costumes afforded much fun as they were judged as to which was the funniest, the best dressed, or the most representative of a particular character. Then the Freshmen revealed their talent in a program of vocal and piano solos and reading. Elton Weiss told a "spooky" ghost story and Ruby Hahn enlightened many by predicting bright futures for them. Nobody's appetite was ruined by the ghost stories though, as everybody ate heartily of the good refreshments.

April 1, the Freshmen gave a play, the "April Fool Teacher" before the assembly. It was a comical play and everyone had several good laughs from it.

Just watch the Freshmen! Every class must have a beginning year, and we have done our best to make this one worthy of our dear old Bradley High School.

DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

English

English I - This course introduces the student to High School English textbooks and methods of instruction. Some good elementary English composition textbook is completed during the year, and several books are selected from the college entrance requirements lists, some of which are studied intensively and others required for outside reading. Composition work is done weekly and a period each week is devoted to letter writing, English grammar review, and oral English. At least two books are studied and several are read outside of class as directed by the teacher. This is a one year course. One credit. Offered in the ninth year.

English II - This course is a continuation of the work in English. Some good study of English literature is completed during the year and at least two books are read in class. Outside reading is required and it is carefully supervised by the teacher. The student is given the selection and organization of material, and is encouraged to write, discuss, and distinguish features of literature. This is a one year course. One credit. Offered in the tenth year.

English III - This course takes up the study of the history of English literature. Some textbook like Hallock's history of English Literature or its equivalent is studied. One of the objects of this course is to establish right habits of reading and to win the student's appreciation for some of the better literature. At least six books should be read as outside reading during the year, one from each of the following types of literature: poetry, drama, novel, essay, biography, and short story. There is also devoted to these writings. Written and oral composition, in this grade, should be the results of serious study. The study of grammar, composition, and rhetoric should

English IV - This course takes up a study of the history of American Literature. Some textbook like Hallock's history of American Literature or its equivalent is studied. One of the objects of this course is to establish right habits of reading and to win the student's appreciation for some of the better literature. At least six books should be read as outside reading during the year, one from each of the following types of literature: poetry, drama, novel, essay, biography, and short story. There is also devoted to these writings. Written and oral composition, in this grade, should be the results of serious study. The study of grammar, composition, and rhetoric should provide a means of correcting individual errors found in themes written. Original imaginative and inspirational writings in both prose and verse should be encouraged. This is the last year of the four year course in English offered in the Bradley High School. The pupil should now be able to do College Grade work in English, and be able to meet other demands in life that draw so heavily upon one's ability to do written and oral composition work.

Reference is made occasionally to present day writers and narrative articles in all English courses. Some time is given to debating, public speaking, and oral reading in each year of English work described above. Also some time is given to parliamentary practice in all courses.

Mathematics

Algebra - This is a beginning course in algebra and covers all the operations, substitution and evaluation, the fundamental operations, the use of formulas, an introduction to graphs, equations in the first degree in one unknown, important types of problems, factoring, highest common factor, lowest common multiple, fractions; ratio, proportion and variation; two unknowns; square root and its applications; radicals and exponents; and an introduction to quadratic equations. One credit. Offered in the ninth year.

Plane Geometry - This course takes up the ordinary theorems of the first year courses in plane geometry; original proofs; practical measurements and mensuration review. One year. One credit. Offered in tenth year.

Commercial Arithmetic - Short methods in dealing with the problems of the business world, like parts of 100, a mastery of the 45 common fractions. Tables of denominate numbers. Fractions. Formulas for percentage and their applications. Formulas used in bookkeeping. Solving and analysis of problems by mental processes. Addition. Subtraction. Multiplication. Division. Papering. Painting. Lumber. Building. Plastering. Principal Meridian. Town. Longitude and its division. Ratio and Proportion. Longitude and Latitude. One credit. One half year. Offered in eleventh year.

History, Government and Economics

United States History - This takes up the history from the time when the first settlers came to about 1776 A. D. A study of the Colonial Kingdoms and empires; the Greeks and Greek civilization; the Roman Republic and Empire and the Barbarian invasions. One year. One credit. Offered in twelfth year.

M. & W. History - A thorough study of the Middle Ages followed by an intensive study of Modern times. The European background of American history is kept constantly in mind. Library assignments are required and some composition work which gives the student the advantage of the library material at hand is taken up during the year. One year. One credit. Offered in the tenth year.

American History - A background for American History is built up by giving a brief survey of European history prior to the discovery of America.

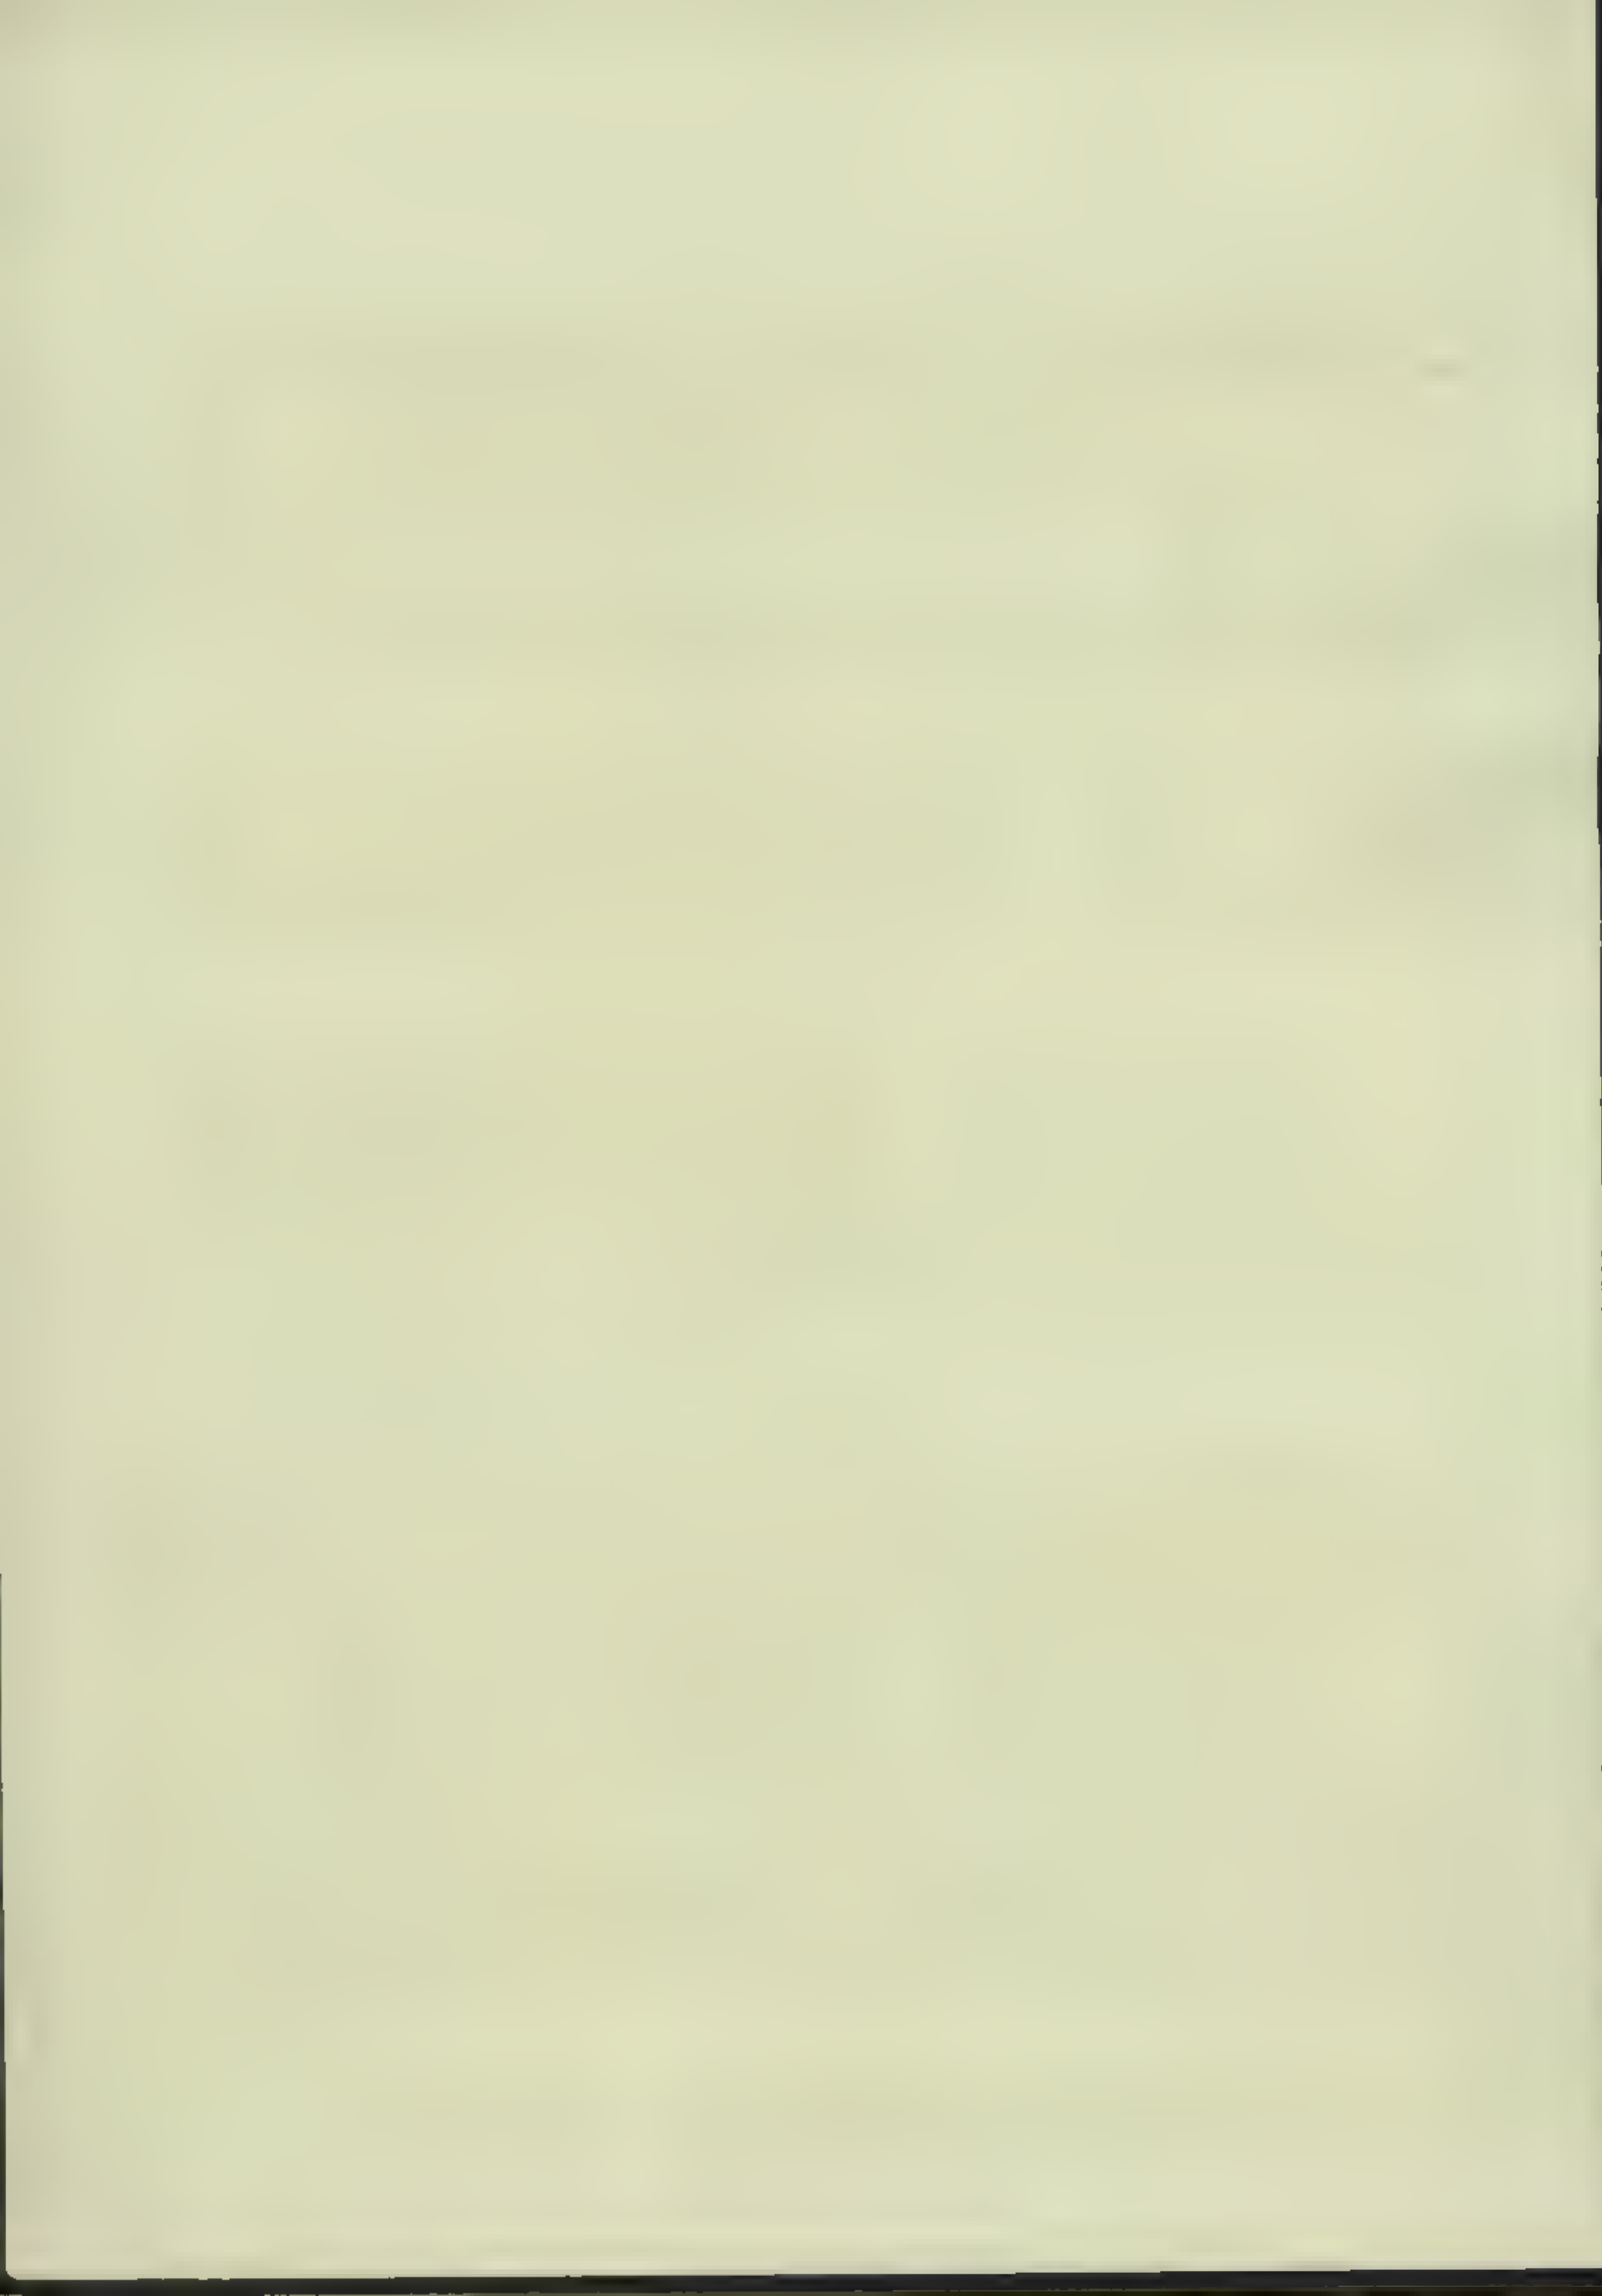

Following this study a study of discovery, colonization, and settlement of America is taken up. This is followed by a study of the conditions leading up to the separation of the colonies from the mother country, formation of State governments; the Constitutional Convention; National development; Rise of political parties; Civil War; Reconstruction and its accompanying problems; more recent problems; and a study of the World War. One year. One credit. Offered in the twelfth year.

Civil Government - The pupil is supposed to have had the origin of government before entering this course. It deals with the rise of government during the life history of man and the various social stages of his development; national development and administration of our federal laws; and state and local problems. It acquaints the student with the State and National Governments and will help him in being a useful citizen. It is a half year course. One credit. Offered in the twelfth year.

Science

General Science - The purpose of this course is to provide the student with a broad work in physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, and physical geography. Especial emphasis will be placed upon the development of the pupil. He will be led to observe all natural phenomena around him, and to keep neat records of his observations. He will be led to apply useful knowledge to good ends which will aid him in rendering better service to his community. This is a one year course. Double laboratory periods. One credit. Offered in the ninth year.

Chemistry - The purpose of chemistry is to give a fuller understanding of the elements in the world and to show how these elements are used in everyday life. A very valuable course, it leads the pupils to observe natural phenomena about them and gives them practice in reporting what they have observed. It is a one year course. One credit. Offered in the tenth year.

pils... with the literature... required of the pipils. Open to juniors and seniors. One year. One credit.

Geography

Physical Geography - Land forms and their development, climate, and the influence of physical conditions upon the distribution of life. Includes a study of the distribution of the world's major crops and a map of the world. One half year course. 1/2 credit. Offered in the tenth year.

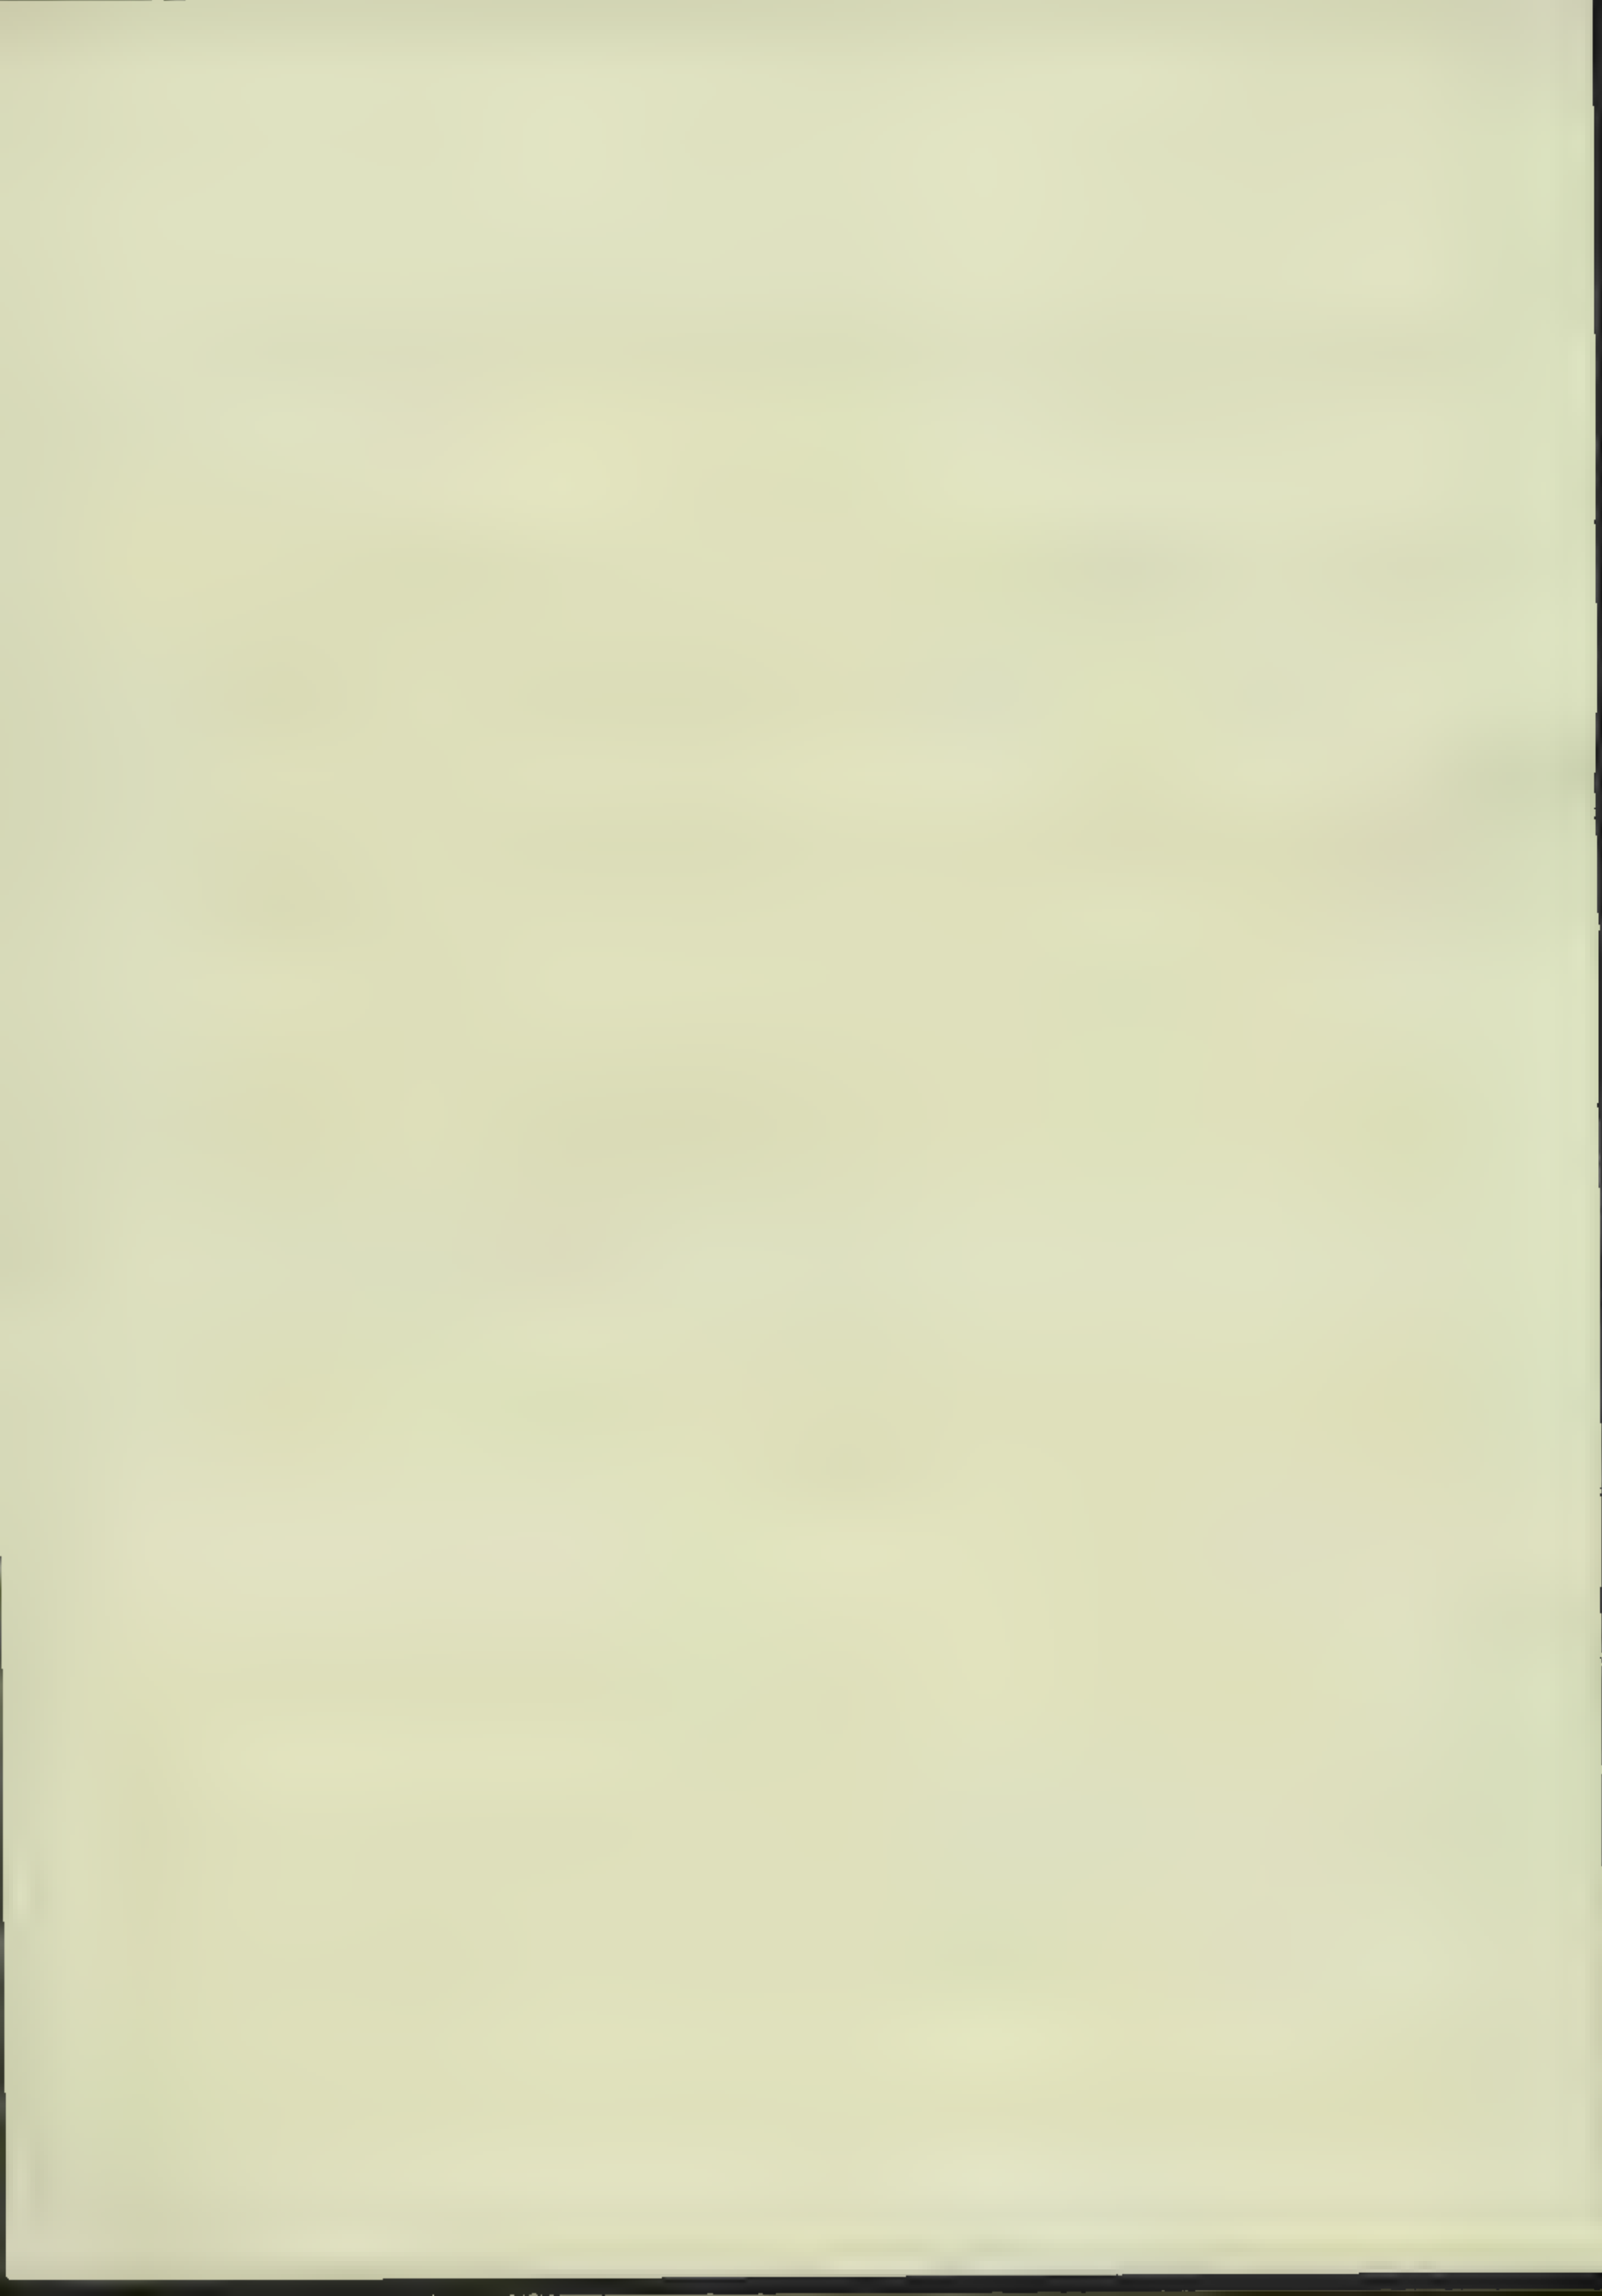

Human Geography - Human life as affected by the influence of the physical environment. The course covers the distribution of the world's major crops; the development of air, water, and land transportation; a special study of the various human activities such as forestry, minerals, and other resources. The study of these conditions is followed by an intensive study of the present and projected development in United States, Europe, and Asia. A notebook, "Economic Geography" is used with the text, "Commercial and Industrial Geography" by ... Open to juniors and seniors. One half credit in Geography. One-half credit. A one semester course.

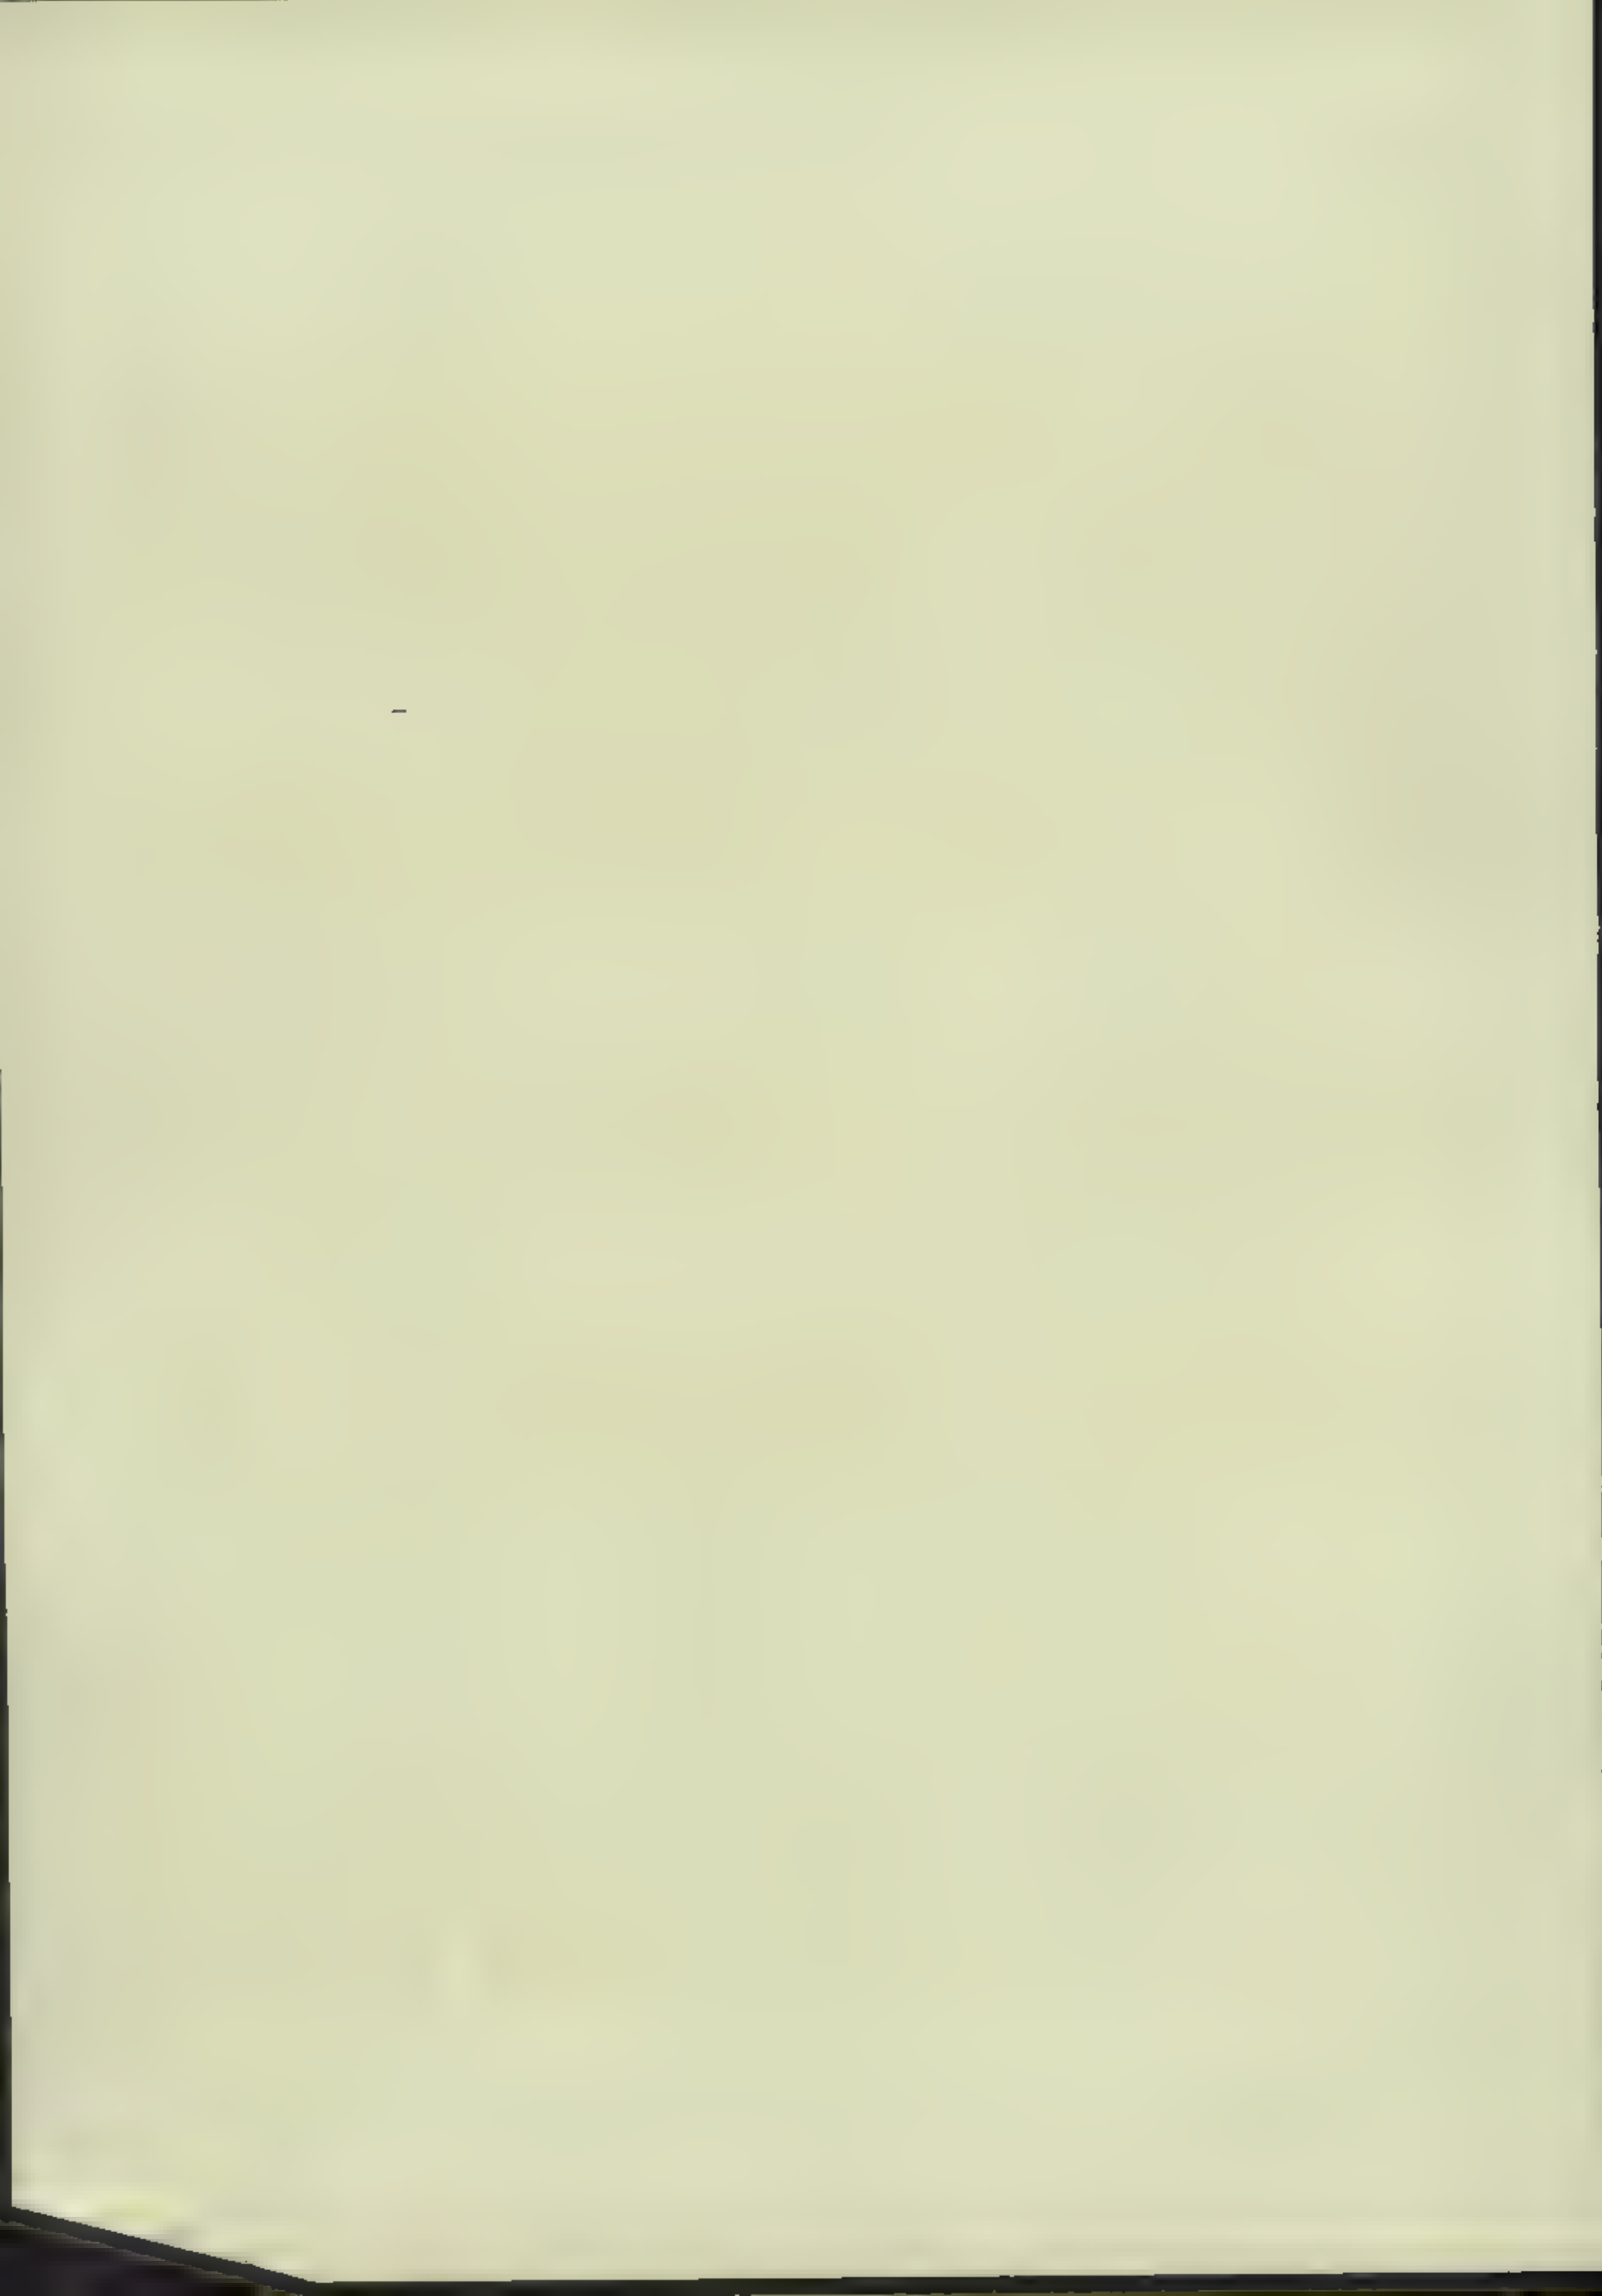

Foreign Language

French I - The purpose of this course is to teach the student to pronounce correctly the French language, to read to the international phonetic alphabet and to teach the forms and uses of the French language. Much attention is given to the geographical features of France, and to the customs of the French people.

The course is a one semester course, which includes the use of the French language for reading. The readers, "Si Nous Lisions" and "Pierrot" are used for additional practice and to develop the student's French. Open to juniors. One credit.

French II - This course is a one semester course and uses the French language for reading. The course is placed in the curriculum of the first three classes in French. The text, "Les Trois Mousquetaires" by Dumas, is used. The purpose is to have a better understanding of the French language, culture, and to enjoy the French language. Prerequisite - one year of French. One credit.

The Glee Club started out at the beginning of the school term with a bang. Good attendance prevailed at every meeting, which was held each Monday and Wednesday of the week.

Almost immediately there were songs to learn. The girls were to entertain at a play given by the High School, "The Merchant of Venice". The numbers sung were "Sailor Town"; "You and I"; "Rose"; "Let's take a look"; and last, "Somebody in the crowd". The girls worked hard in order to put over these numbers in the best possible manner.

Now the girls are working earnestly in learning the two songs which are to be sung at the County Contest May fifteenth at Herscher.

The two songs which the best sixteen girls will sing at the contest are "The Close of Day," the number selected by the school; "Song of the Mountaineer," a number which is required by every school entering the contest.

A few of the girls have dropped Glee Club from the beginning of the year but there are a good number remaining. All are matched so that it will be hard to select sixteen from the group to go to the contest. Every girl is doing her best to help make it a success, with the help of Miss Dooley, the instructor.

The Juniors have the best attendance record through the year. Much credit can be given to them. The Seniors have been very faithful too, and are not far behind. Not all the Freshmen girls attend Glee Club; perhaps some are a little timid yet. Some of the Freshmen girls have shown a fine spirit and we hope more of them will come next year.

Near the end of the year there is going to be a treat in store for those who have been faithful in the work of the Glee Club all year. A picnic was given the latter part of April.

Commercial Club Meetings have always been looked forward to with pleasure by all. The main features of the meetings have been singing and music.

One of our most interesting meetings was conducted in October, when Mr. Gilkerson, a well known lecturer for the Public Service Company, was the guest speaker. Almost the entire student body and faculty attended the meeting. Mr. Gilkerson illustrated his lecture with various objects and a background. When the lecture was over, we were all convinced that the basic element underlying all success is the ability to sell.

We all know about the Big Business Depression; I use the phrase only as an illustration. But is that any reason, we wonder, for not to be paid. Thus, five cents per month may deprive students of their entire banking account, but how can Commercial Club activities be held otherwise?

Notes

An election of officers was held at the first meeting of the French Club. Officers chosen were: Ann Mathews, President and Vivian Legris, Secretary.

It was decided no dues should be paid throughout the year. A suggestion was carried that the French Club present a play before the assembly during the year. At another meeting the French National Anthem, "Le Marseillaise" was learned.

Class work

The class has finished their reader "Si Nous lisions," and are now illustrating the stories.

The pupils like the new story "Pierrilo" very much, and thus far the French Class is progressing nicely.

Au Revoir, jusque l'année prochaine.

La classe de francais, 1920-1921, désire que la classe prochaine aura la très bonne maîtresse, et beaucoup de joie, comme toutes ces filles ont eu cette année.

Captain
Howard Hoegsted - Center
"How"

"How" has been a star in all county games and all district games in the past year. He is one of the best players in the state at this time. Playing for two years on the team has enabled him to become a full member of the team. He is expected to be back next year. He has certainly made a name for himself in two years.

Paul Tolis - Forward
"lie"

Paul is one of the most accurate shots on the team and usually scores a large portion of his team's points. He is a good player and he also plays a fine brand of basketball. He will also compete with the best players in the state of the up-and-coming players.

Lawrence Benoché - Forward
"Pug"

Playing with Tolis for two years, Pug has become a star as a scoring power. He is unselfish in passing the ball to his team mates. He will be back with us next year.

Lawrence Power - Guard
"Larry"

"Larry" proves to be the fastest man on the floor as well as a star defensive man. He has become a long shot and is usually featured in on the scoring of every game. He will be back with the same speed next year.

Harold LeMaster - Guard

Harold was a great defensive guard and also acquired some scoring power. He has his touch in passing the ball, and he is just what the ball is worth. He has proved too much for many of his size. He will also be back next year and says that, "I'll stop 'em next year."

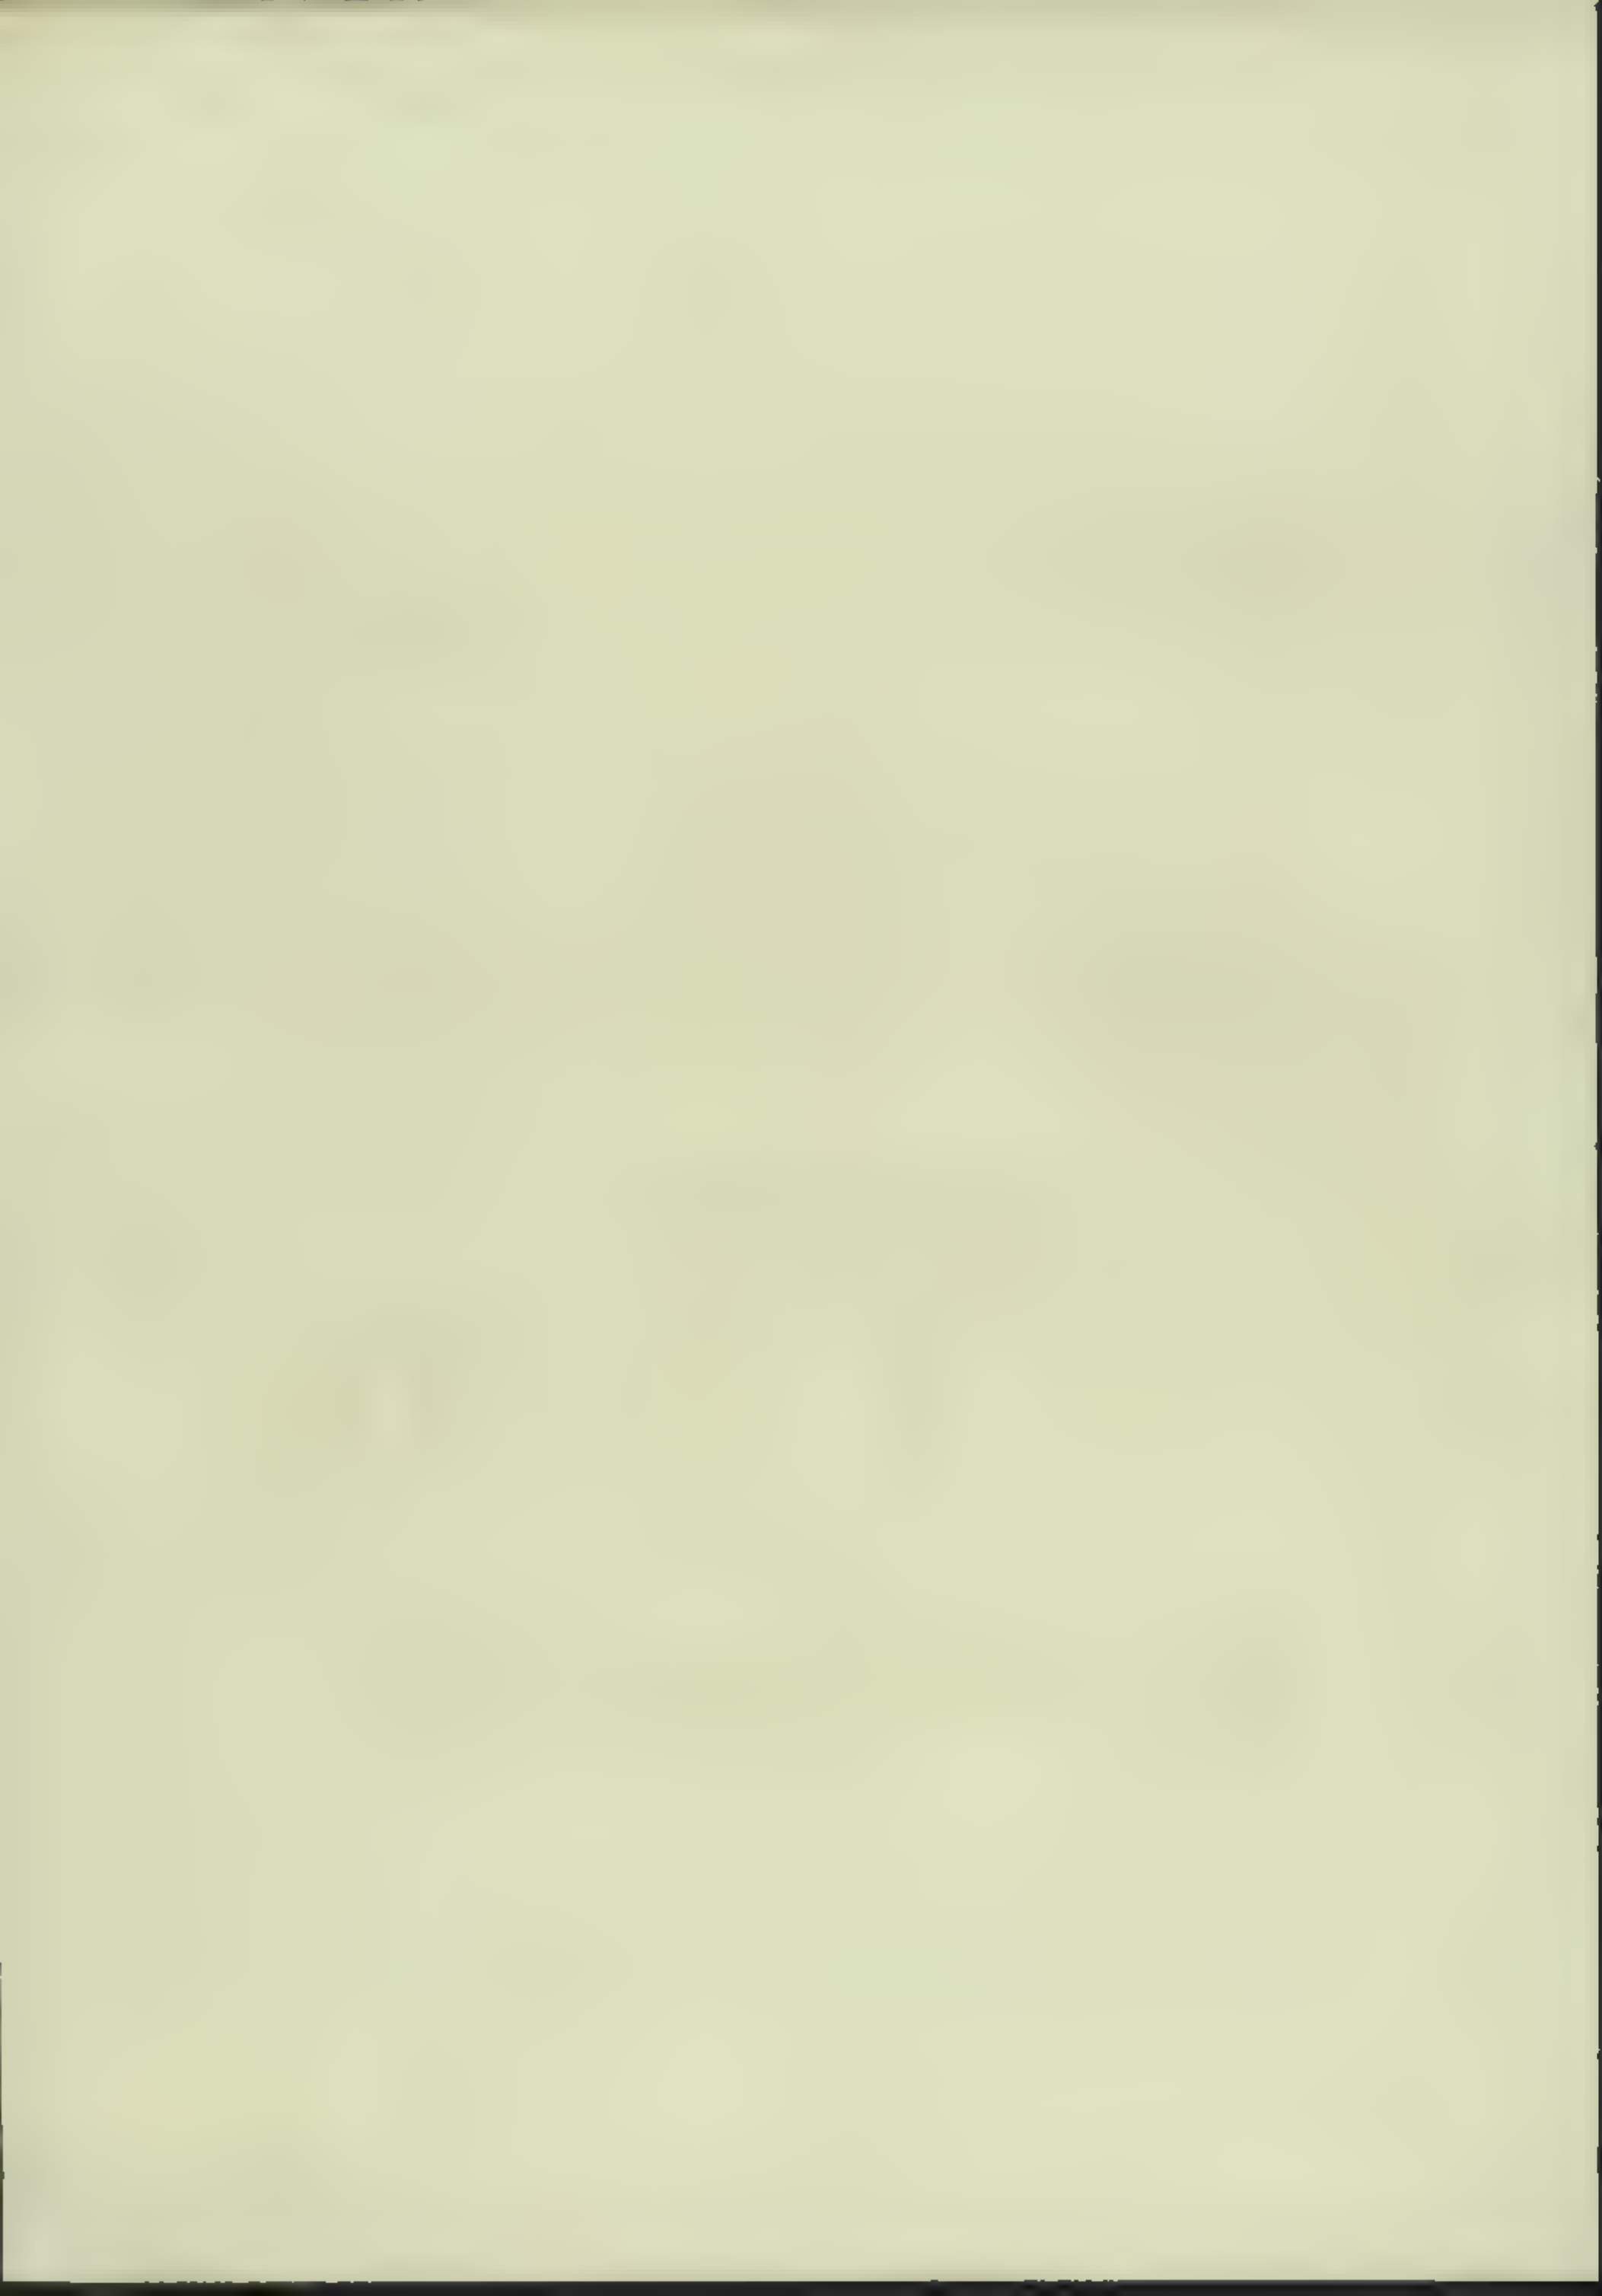

Floyd Anderson - Guard "Andy"

"Andy" lasted until his last year before coming out, and made a splendid player. Although the first cut, he fights like a champion from the start to the finish. His initial "F" means first and he lives up to his reputation. He will be missed by the team next year.

Second Team

When credit for good basketball play goes to the Second Team, composed of Ellis, Diller, Mailleux, Marquette, Perry, and S. Smith, the whole season this speedy little team lost only two games. Ellis was also awarded a letter for outstanding playing on the second team.

Bradley High School Alumni Association

In 1928 Bradley High School graduated its largest class of Seniors, a class composed of eighteen members. This class had accomplished a great deal while they were during their four years in high school. They had won the first year track trophy, the school had won a basketball trophy, and they had won a basketball trophy. Since their graduation their interest in their Alma Mater has not lessened and the result of the Bradley High School Alumni Association is the result of a little measure to certain members of this class.

Early in the spring of 1930 Earle G. LaGessee, one of the members of the class of 1928, conceived the idea of forming an Alumni Association. He took the best means available to start the movement, by calling together all the members of his class and they held their first annual meeting on Jan. 14 in the banquet room of the Spic and Span Cafe in Kankakee.

An Alumni Organization committee was appointed to begin work at once. The committee, however, failed to function and again the task fell to the hands of the one who first had conceived it. Mr. LaGessee took it upon himself to get the names of all graduates, which he obtained through H. P. Welker, Superintendent of Bradley High School. Then with the help of F. J. LaGessee, cards were sent as Alumni Meeting notices to all the graduates. Notices were published in the Kankakee News and, as a result, on the afternoon of Monday, March 20, 1930, twenty-six graduates met in the Bradley Gymnasium. It was on that memorable afternoon that the dream of the first into the flame of realization and the Bradley High School Alumni Association was now not only a vision but a reality.

The following officers were elected to carry on the work of the organization:

ALUMNI ACTIVITIES

The Annual Convention holds its meetings the first Monday of November. They are held in the Brailly Gymnasium of the Brailly Institute of Brailly High School is invited to attend. The time and place for next year will be decided by the Executive Committee. The local newspaper concerning the activities of the Association.

On the 27th of July, the Erroll High School Alumni Association presented their first play, "The First", at the Erroll High School Gymnasium in Erroll. The play was the direction of Sterling Co. of the John B. Rogers Company and was a very successful venture, there being a large attendance. The cast was made up of alumni of the school and the play was a very successful one. The proceeds were used for the purchase of a new set of books for the school library.
